

Dolphy: Thank you for the laughter

By Bayard San Diego Jr.

WITH the end came, the celebration was at his bedside.

They knew him as the Comedy King, but for a lot of Filipinos, actor Dolphy, or Dolphy as Vera Quizon in real life, was considered the Laurel of Philippine film.

The comedy genius, and some of his 18 children, were with him when he died at 8:34 last night, Dolphy would have turned 84 on July 25. His remains now lie at the Heritage Park in Tagaytay City.

When the Comedy King was rushed to Makati Medical Center last June, because of Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD), it was his family's turn to appeal for assistance and prayers from the public.

In the past months, the entire nation—much like the Quizon family—had been mourning Dolphy's condition.

Celebration from rival studios were noted in papers.

Stars and executives from ABS-CBN, TV5 and GMA 7, crossed network lines and came out on television (and in print interviews), expressing their love for the acting comedian.

TV5 chair Manoy V Pangilinan and ABS-CBN president Chito Sison-Cosico visited him during his last few weeks at the intensive Care Unit. GMA 7 chair Felipe L. Gozon and other industry leaders extended their good wishes as well.

OF GIGS AND GREATNESS Filipinos, wherever they are, put their best condition—laughter—in large doses for the past 78 years from the man known as Pandita Vera Quizon but Dolphy to one and all, young and old.

Jojo-jinggo tandem shaping up for 2016

Mar-Chiz teamup being worked out

By Gil C. Cabanaguan

HAVE Senators Francis "Chiz" Escudero and Jinggo Estrada gone their separate ways to run for the vice presidency in 2016?

The heart in Manila's political circles is that the longtime friends have been jockeying for Vice President Jejomar Binay's slot in No. 2 in 2016, and that Estrada has edged out Escudero.

And probably out of the senatorial ticket of the United National Alliance (UNA) for next year's midterm elections as well.

The UNA is a coalition formed earlier this year by Binay's PDP-Laban Party and Komser President Joseph Estrada's Pwersa ng Masang Pilipino (PMP).

The two parties teamed up to contest the congressional and local races next year, but it is widely believed that Binay will use UNA as a springboard for the 2016 presidential contest and that the deal between him and Estrada was the choice of the younger Estrada as his running mate.

But Escudero, the heart goes, wants first spot as a reward for Jojo's presence.

POLITICS IS MORE FUN IN THE PHILIPPINES In this photo taken on Aug. 13, 2009, Sen. Francis Escudero, then Makati City Mayor Jejomar Binay, ex-President Joseph Estrada and Sen. Mar Roxas put their hands together during the wrap-up in the 2010 presidential election at Fort Bonifacio Global City, Tagay City. Three years later, talk is rife of new alliances in preparation for the 2015 and 2016 elections. (comcast)

EO conflicts with LGUs' laws against mining

By TJ Burgeon, DJ Yap in Manila and Inquirer Mindanao

DECLARING ordinances that ban certain types of all mining activities in a number of provinces and towns inconsistent with national laws will pose problems for local government units (LGUs) opposed to mining, officials and environmentists yesterday said.

The newly signed Executive Order No. 79 directs the Department of the Interior and Local Government to ensure that ordinances and regulations conform to national regulations and policies.

The EO also declares small-scale mining to be designated as "sustainable business," or people's small-scale mining zone.

South Cotabato Gov. Arthur Puyos said he was not bothered by the new mining policy.

House to pass higher tax on mines

By Cynthia D. Balasa and Gil C. Cabanaguan

THE HOUSE of Representatives will approve a measure to increase the government's share from mining revenues in support of Malacañang's move to revitalize the mining industry.

Speaker Deleane Belmonte said yesterday.

"We will certainly be supportive of whatever is needed," Belmonte said when asked about the proposal of the House of Representatives in Malacañang's call for a law that will increase from 2 percent the excise tax imposed on mining companies," Belmonte said.

President Aquino approved to put in place wide-ranging reforms in the mining industry under Executive Order No. 79, which was issued on Monday to strengthen environmental protection.

Asean OKs 'conduct rules'; China yet to agree

PHNOM PENH—Ten Southeast Asian nations have agreed on a code of conduct to prevent armed clashes over the West Philippine Sea (South China Sea), but they will still seek to get China to agree to it, a Cambodian official said on Monday.

The agreement was reached at a meeting of foreign ministers in the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (Asean), in which China does not belong.

The issue of controlling maritime claims is the major topic of the talks held in the Cambodian capital Phnom Penh, in large part because tensions over the strategic waterway have escalated to recent levels.

Chinese and Philippine ships engaged in a standoff in contested areas starting in April, and Vietnam last month protested Chinese energy projects in waters both nations claim.

In his opening speech at the Asean meeting, Cambodian Prime Minister Hun Sen urged Southeast Asian countries to do more to promote mutually economic growth and security and called for a code of conduct in the West Philippine Sea to be signed.

Notorious bandit, 11 others bolt prov'l jail

By Edwin Fernandez and Charlie C. Sison inquirer Mindanao

COTABATO CITY—More rebels tried but failed to free the "Luzon" when they stormed the North Cotabato provincial jail in Kidapawan City in February. Three people were killed and 15 others wounded.

A day after President Aquino granted jail officials for telling the attempt by armed men to spring one of their comrades from prison in February, 12 inmates—including the former rebel leader turned bandit—broke the Maguindanao Notorious 11.

Gaano kalayo na ang narating ng Pilipino?
Ano ang basehan ng kanyang tagumpay?
Ang galing ng Pilipino, hindi nasusukat sa kasikatan at pangal lamang.

Ang galing ng Pilipino ay nakikita sa kanyang patuloy na pakikipagpapalaran sa buhay, kahit ano pa ang sakitin ng iba.
Kahit minsan ay dapat umayap na niya.

Alam niya sa kanya nakosalelay
ang kinabukasan ng marami ng mga mahal niya sa buhay, ng mga kaibigan, at ng buong sambayanan.

Pero kahit baya ay hindi tumitiig sa paglalakbay.
Kahit marami nang ginagdaanan at nananatan, taliy pa rin ang paglalakay para umataas, para umangat.

Para lumipad.

Isa ang buwang ng Pilipino at ng Phoenix Petroleum.
Ang number one independent Filipino Oil Company.
Mula sa ilang retail stations lang sa kinebuhay hanggang sa humigit na dalawandahas na lumaong estasyon sa buong bansa.

Ani kahit nasobit na ang tagumpay, patuloy rinong sinusapitan ang Pilipino sa bawat hakbang ng kanyang paglalakbay.
Ganyan ang tatatag nang tunay na Pilipino.
Isa ang tunay na Filipino.

Leading independent oil company Phoenix Petroleum celebrates IPO anniversary and 250th station

Today July 11, 2012, Phoenix Petroleum Philippines celebrates two milestones: the 5th year of its initial public offering at the Philippine Stock Exchange, and the opening of its 250th station.

5th Anniversary of Initial Public Offering

In 2007, the public listing of Phoenix Petroleum, a small entrepreneurial company from Quezon City with big dreams, was a success. Phoenix was the first petroleum company to go public since the 1988 US Superpetroleum law was passed.

Since then, the company has achieved remarkable growth. From 2007 up to first half of 2012, Phoenix

Petroleum posted a compounded annual growth rate of 87% in revenue, and 50% in market capitalization from P90 million in 2007 to P5.5 billion in 2011, respectively.

In 2007, Phoenix was the 47th largest company in the country based on revenue. Today Phoenix is the 33th largest company. Phoenix Petroleum was recently named one of the best managed mid-size companies in the country by Forbes magazine (Indonesia).

Opening of 250th Phoenix Gas Station

Today's opening of its 250th station has contributed to making Phoenix Petroleum the independent with the highest market share nationwide.

From 20 stations in southern Mindanao in 2007, Phoenix has expanded its network from the south to the north, from Mindanao to Quezon and Luzon.

The 250th station in Talina, Bacolod, Cebu is a Phoenix mega-station. It has a clean and air-conditioned restroom, service lane, ATM, credit card facility and will soon have retail shops and other consumer services.

Now and then Phoenix stations offer these modern conveniences beyond fuel. Convenience stores, auto services, and money transfer can also be found in other Phoenix mega-stations.

Powered with its growing retail network, the Phoenix commercial fuel business continues to expand, with accounts in retail growth industries from transportation to energy to construction.

"We at Phoenix Petroleum are proud to be the leading independent oil company in the country today," said President and CEO Dennis Uy. "We thank our stakeholders – banks, business partners, dealers, stockholders, customers – for believing in us and supporting us all these years. We've had an extraordinary four years and together we look forward to building the future of the downstream petroleum industry in the Philippines. We will continue to make Phoenix a stronger, dynamic business and a reliable partner to the communities we serve."

Driven by its vision – to be an indispensable partner in the journey of everyone ahead. We are back – Phoenix Petroleum is poised to fly higher.

Hip-hop star here for Manila concert

By Patricia Camarero
Editorial Assistant

POP-PUP star Nicki Minaj arrived in Manila yesterday for her concert on Wednesday at the Hall of Stars Arena in Pasig City.

Many, 28, is one of the world's hottest recording stars. Her debut album, "Think (I) Feel," released in November 1993, sold a million copies after only a month, and went No. 1 on the Billboard chart.

She was born in Trinidad and Tobago and moved to Queens, New York when she was five. She played the violin in grade school in Calisenda High School, known for its vocal and performing arts program. She enrolled in drama after finishing her singing audition because she'd lost interest in the violin.

low up with his record label, Young Money Entertainment, in August 2005.

Many collaborations with other artists have also resulted in hits for the duo, including the most singles on the chart at one time—among them the duets "My Chick Bad" (featuring "Goodies"), "Hey Sexy" (featuring Lil' Uzi Vert), "Lil' Freak" (featuring Lil' Yachty), "Tearing Up (Daddy's Girl)" and "Jay-Z and I" (featuring Jay-Z).

"Tiger Balm," Miami's second single from "Punk Friday," has been certified quadruple platinum (4 million copies sold) by the Recording Industry Association of America.

The concert at the MCA, which is a production of Wilson Live and presented by Globe Theatre and MusicBox, is

No banana ban in China

THE COUNTRY'S embassy in Beijing is disputing the claim, made by agriculture officials and President Aquino himself, that China has virtually shut out banana exports from the Philippines.

It is "justice to the public" passed on its website. The company claimed to deny there has never been any cooperation by the Chinese government of the entry of business loans the Philippines for as long as there past the final and where standards and requirements of the Republic of China.

The embassy also stated that the issuance of visas to Chinese tourists to the Philippines "has never been interrupted."

The helping mission, along with Philippine consulates in Shanghai, Hong Kong, Chongqing, and Guangzhou, "continues to issue visas to Chinese individual and group visitors to the Philippines," it said. —Joey E. Fajardo

John Hay firm says BCDA refused payment offer

MANILA CITY—John Hay's solid waste technology is a machine that converts organic waste into power produced by a gas produced in each bag, says a company spokesman. The city, however, has been unable to sell the technology.

Technology seen as garbage woe solution

MANILA CITY—This summer capital, subject of a temporary environmental protection order (TEPO) for a 2011 trash site, is exploring how technological solutions to garbage woes.

That's because in recent letters that developing an ecological landfill soon to become reality.

"Solid waste management is a complex issue, and requires the joint and sustained participation of all stakeholders, and not only the local government but also the private sector, the community, and the citizenry," said John Hay, CEO of the city's waste management company, John Hay & Co.

Hay said that the city government has not abandoned plans to build a landfill.

The Department of Environment and Natural Resources has acknowledged difficulties in securing community support for ecological landfill, and is now exploring the use of new technologies, such as biomass gasification, waste-to-energy, and other technologies.

John Villanueva, BCDA landfill superintendent, said only out of 1,000 tons and 140 cities are served by solid waste, but his own company had been involved in environmental cleanup and waste management and are now being built.

"We manage our technology," he said. New technology, however, should be put through the Department of Environment and Technology, he added.

Pangasinan villagers give go-signal to golf course

MANILA CITY—Residents of Pangasinan village have given the provincial government the go-signal to start construction of an 18-hole golf course in their village.

The village golf course project was suspended in January by the Environmental Management Bureau (EMB) for an environmental compliance certificate (ECC).

The golf course project will cover the coastal village of Pangasinan, Ilocos, Marikina, and Capatzen.

The hundred residents of the village came to a public consultation on January 11, 2012, to discuss the project. The project was approved by the village council, which was held on Jan. 11, 2012, to discuss the project. Mines group urged to police ranks

Big firms welcome new policy framework

By Raul G. Marcelo and Boris C. Sumala

THE GOVERNMENT has called on mining companies to cooperate with a planned review of all industry operations and contracts as mandated in Executive Order No. 79, which outlined the Aquino administration's mining policy.

Finance Secretary Cesar V. Velasco urged the private sector—particularly the Chamber of Mines of the Philippines (CMP)—to pursue the review and “police its ranks.” Large mining firms welcomed the new executive order issued by the Aquino administration and committed to work under the new policy on mining.

“Basically, what is important is we already have a policy in place. There’s predictability and we know that predictability is an essential element for investors. The fact that it took a while to come up with the EO is because they took into consideration the input of shareholders,” Delta Mining senior vice president Mike Toledo said in an interview.

Toledo said it was not too late to expect mining operations to pick up since there are more jobs. Another positive aspect, he said, was that it affirmed that mining laws would take precedence over local laws.

“Mining said that, there are issues which

PH exports grew at double-digit pace in May

By Ana G. Ros
Outbound shipments accounted for $4.931B in receipts

THE COUNTRY'S exports rose by a double-digit pace in May after recovering slightly in April.

Outbound shipments increased by 18.7 percent in May from a year earlier due to robust growth in metal components, agribusiness, textiles and other sectors, which managed to offset weaknesses in electronics products, garments, wood and furniture.

According to the National Statistics Office (NSO), exports in May generated $4.931 billion in receipts—higher than the $4.119 billion reported in the same month last year.

Electronics, which accounted for 36 percent of receipts in May, declined by 0.7 percent to $1.697 billion, but on a monthly basis, electronic products rose up by 14.5 percent from $1.632 billion in April. Semiconductors, which make up half of electronics shipped out of the country, earned $1.463 billion, or 6.7 percent more than last year.

Meats or meats, exports rose 6.4 percent from the $1.625 billion reported in April.

Agribusiness exports in the first five months grew 8.4 percent to $23.443 billion from $20.771 billion during the same period last year.

Benigno Tildio of the University of the Philippines noted that the value of exports would still be less than the year-ago level.

"Given the sharp contraction in exports in the second half of last year, we can't predict any significant recovery unless there is a strong electronic product exports continue to struggle," Tildio said.

According to Philippine exporters' confidence, President Benigno Aquino III, the group will keep its export target of 10 percent, believing that electronics will improve while other sectors are expected to perform well.

Even though semiconductors and furniture were the second top export item in May, with $1.751 billion in receipts, the value still represented a decline of 5.7 percent from that of last year.

On the other hand, revenue from shipments of metal components reached $1.401 billion, rising by 150.4 percent from that of the previous year.

Japan was the country's top export destination in May accounting for $1.131 billion in receipts.

Other top export destinations for Philippine products were the United States with $1.046 billion, and Thailand with $548.61 million.

NSO also reported that total exports made in goods for 2011 reached $108.851 billion, representing a 2.2 percent increase from the $106.490 billion reported in 2010.

In April, FDIs stood at a net outflow of $13M

By Melissa N. Rosas

FOREIGN direct investments in April came in at a net outflow of $13 million due to the prevailing risk aversion brought on by the prolonged debt crisis in the euro zone, according to the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA).

The outflow in April was a reversal of the $19 million net inflow registered in the same month last year, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas reported.

In April, investors across the euro zone hesitated to afford to cheap incentives in borrowing costs for some European countries, and this has dampened global risk appetite, the BSP said in a statement.

Notwithstanding the Philippines' favorable macroeconomic conditions, investors were wary of potential spillovers of the euro zone's currency crisis problems.

During the month, the regulator said there was almost no inflow of FDI, while the outflow reached $23 million.

Taking into account the country's performance in April, FDI in the first five months of 2011 at a net inflow of $207 million, still, it was up by nearly 10 percent from the $271 million reported in the same period last year.

SMI banking on EO to secure mine certificate

By Mia T. Delacruz

CITY OF BERNABE—Insurgent Mine Inc. (SMI), the operator of the $4-billion Tuguegarao copper-gold project in Ifugao, is asking the government to take over environmental compliance responsibilities (ECC) application following the loss of Executive Order (EO) 79 on mining reform, SMI general manager the open mines and mineral affairs Mark Williams said in a letter to General Linares City.

The National EO 79 is more than 10 years old. The President (NOR) a bill implement on why it should go on ECC and expects the executive order will strengthen its appeal, Williams said.

"We will work with the EO to strengthen the agreement," Williams added.

The SMI executive and the "proposed" order is to work with the Sangguniang Panglungsod of Tuguegarao to amend the open-pit law. Williams noted that several conditions to loan compliance have also supported for the filing of the loan while more indebted groups are expected to lead more support to the project.

Williams said there "should not have to be an appeal" since SMI even more beyond compliance regarding the application process and also because the EO states there should be continuity between local and national laws. The open-pit law is not consistent with the Mining Act of 1995, which does not have open-pit mining, Williams said.

SMI needs the ECC before it can proceed with the construction phase of the 100-million project, which entails what is considered to be the single largest foreign direct investment in the Philippines.

In a decision dated May 23, 2012, the SMI filed SMI's appeal on the rejection of the ECC application for the project, saying that the law on open-pit mining is in place in South America.

On Tuesday, South Cotabato Gov. Arthur Reyes said that the provincial environmental unit, which includes the open-pit law, is still valid even with the issuance of the EO under the project was to develop it itself.

Reyes said that if an independent report is not associated with SMI would reach the environmental standards of the "Tuguegarao project," the Sangguniang Panglungsod may still be convinced to lift the ban. "It's about time," Reyes said.

Shell ignites Ferrari's passion for speed

Text and photos by Charles E. Bolton

THERE is one peculiar sight that is hard to miss in a tour of the Ferrari factory in Maranello, Italy: situated near the end of the final assembly line is a lone Shell gasoline pump, ready to let a little life into each of the newly crafted California and F430 sports cars.

For those still not in the know, Shell is the only fuel and lubrication brand explicitly included in the Ferrari logo, even Ferrari employees have a Shell logo patch on their uniforms.

Such a tight bond could be explained by the fact that for years, Shell has been a technical partner of Scuderia Ferrari (the team's Formula One racing team), providing full analysis of fuel and oil samples during every race.

12 years

The partnership was forged in 1991, 50 years ago, in 1941, to be exact, when Shell agreed to sponsor a talented race driver named Nino Farina, who was then 31 years old.

It was around this time that

Ferrari no longer content with being just a driver, turned his own racing skills and talent to the Scuderia Ferrari (California) to build for a mobile reserve for testing teams and is also commonly applied to Italian motorsport.

No wonder then that 440 years after, the bond between Shell and Ferrari is so strong as ever.

"Shell is very proud to have supported Scuderia Ferrari during its over 60 years," Shell says at the pit where the Shell team of the Formula One World Championship was held in its 1999, which enabled that team to secure more than 2,000 Shell Championship points, over 115 victories and in 12 F1 Formula One drivers and in 10 Constructors' titles," Shell Brands International national sponsorship manager James Clark said.

The partnership is beyond the fuel and lubrication products that keep the Ferrari engine running in the few minutes possible.

Mike Harris, Shell's Formula One fuel project leader, explained that Shell goes beyond providing fuel and lubrication products. "We also develop the fuel and lubricants that Scuderia Ferrari exclusively use as well as providing a full analytical service to every race," he said.

He explained that Shell maintains a track lab, sort of a computer run fuel test equipment—where fuel samples constantly flow the fuel and lubricants that the team use during each racing season.

It is in its motor that the drivers get the most performance out of their cars, not only during the 100 km race, but the entire season's racing system before a big event. With this partnership, Shell is able to see every component that the fuel, oil and grease that they get from Shell have undergone—and returned—the fastest engineering test there is—Ferrari's own.

Jackman believes, Shell's Formula One fuel service, explained that a Formula One engine will run on more standard pump fuel.

Talk to it

However, for the first time, Shell can talk to its fuel to test the requirements of the Ferrari engine in various tracks.

"Fuel and engine oil samples are taken from the Ferrari car before and after every Formula One race," Harris said, quickly, "not" for analysis. The track lab separates the many components and components in the fuel that as well as lubricants for analysis," Harris explained.

On average, the fuel is analyzed 40 to 50 times throughout a race weekend (there are over 200 components in a fuel test to ensure that everything is within legal boundaries). The measurements governing fuel international Automobile Federation into the minimum and maximum limits for diesel engines while at the same time monitor that the fuel must have 5.7 percent ethanol or bio-fuel in the mix.

This is the reason why the Formula One fuel has to be made of the same type of components one would find in pump gas, particularly when he fill up a Shell V-Power Nitro+ gasoline.

"It would be pointless to develop products that only a handful could use. Between the F1 race fuel and the one available in the pump, it's just the fact that we play around with this to ensure that the Ferrari F1 engine is well suited to the track and doesn't have to be changed, a fact which will bring together the Formula One engine and the engine used in all other power is made much in this case, the Shell Shell Fuel blend is one that will give the engine the most power possible and at the same time use that could provide the best fuel economy since this is important when doing that lap," Harris explained.

He added that the new formula of Shell V-Power Nitro+ has been developed with oxygen and nitrogen from the track with Ferrari. "We have taken what we learn on the track and translated it into a new performance fuel formulated to deliver a benefit for every type of car on the road."

Media left out of 'PBB Teen' finals

Meanwhile, this year's winner has had to defend her triumph and insist she deserves it

By Marvin K. Ross

FOR SUCH a well-documented event, "PBB in the Big Night"—last episode of this year's "Playboy Big Brother Teen"—held on Wednesday—wasn't effectively kept out of the reach of most outside of ABC-CBS programs.

Still, some people told me that they knew the show was being watched by millions of viewers, but they didn't know that.

They also didn't know that the show was being watched by millions of viewers, but they didn't know that.

The show was being watched by millions of viewers, but they didn't know that.

Unpopular winner

Meanwhile, it seems the 17-year-old winner has to defend her triumph. "Some people don't think I deserve it," she says. "I'm not perfect."

She also got a lot of criticism for her performance.

PBB TEEN Edition: A big winner Myndy

PBB TEEN Edition: A Big Teen (in and out) Myndy, Karen, Ray spent a massive $3.92 percent of the total number of votes, to eventually win the reality show.

For second place, she received a 1.95 percent of the votes, losing $500,000. The other winners were Ray (0.95 percent), Karen (0.95 percent), and Myndy (0.95 percent).

It's like the old adage: "You can't win if you don't play."

While winning PBB could lead to a career in show business, some turned to other paths.

It was interesting to see the show's impact on the pop culture.

Sarah shines

Pop star evokes desire, sensuality, pain, desperation in birthday concert

By Patrick Connelley

Behind the scenes, Sarah's birthday party was a lot more than a party.

For her 17th birthday, Sarah had a special concert.

She performed songs that were very personal to her.

The concert—hosted by Sarah's manager, "V.I.P."—was an intimate birthday party.

She performed songs that were very personal to her.

MARTIN Hernandez and Dolly Wood star in their new movie 'Ogie, Martin in Apl's LA concert'.

Ogie, Martin in Apl's LA concert

Ogie Alfaro is all geared up for apl de ap's concert for Pinas in Hollywood. "Martin Hernandez, Mercedes Hologano and I will do the Ogie part," Ogie jokes. "Apl and the Shark Food Stars will do the Pinas with Pinas Show."

Ogie adds: "They were more and sing it with."

Peggy Lora
After 2005 Pinas Lora (Ogie) was in the Philippines. Lora, who was in the Philippines for 10 years, is now in the Philippines. Lora, who was in the Philippines for 10 years, is now in the Philippines.

Last year, on Jan. 1, they were in the Philippines. They just had to go to the Philippines to see the Philippines.

"I don't know if it's the same old China, but it's the same old China. I don't know if it's the same old China, but it's the same old China. I don't know if it's the same old China, but it's the same old China."

The guests at the concert were moved when Martin Hernandez and Mercedes Hologano performed. The guests and guests of the concert were moved when Martin Hernandez and Mercedes Hologano performed.

Concert and Concert for Pinas and Martin Hernandez make me believe in marriage again.
